

I have too many Pets

I have too many pets

I have too many pets.
They are everywhere
They are messing up my house; and they don't even care.

They don't Even care.

There are hamsters in the plants and frogs in the potpourri. There's a chicken on my head laying eggs on me.

The dogs are looking at the photo albums. The birds are in my flower pots looking for seeds. The horse is in the garden chewing on some weeds.

There are fishes in my dishes. There are bunnies on the door.
There's a cow in my shower-I can't stand it any more.

I know what I'll do. I'll kick them out of the house, every single one of them, even the mouse.

They are gone. They moved into the zoo. Now I miss them so much I'm moving there too.
