Sometimes I want to find out what another person likes.

Knowing what another person likes can help us have fun together.

I can listen to what the person talks about.

If someone talks about something a lot, that can mean they really like it!

I can watch what the person chooses to do. If someone chooses to do something a lot, they probably enjoy it.

I can also ask the other person questions. I can ask: What is your favorite game to play? Or, What is your favorite thing to eat?

Finding out what another person likes can help us become friends.
